Chairman

Dear Parents,

A school imparts knowledge to children, develops their skills, and instils in them sound values in them. It nurtures in them, in these formative years, a lifelong curiosity for learning. It sets the context and contours for their future learning, especially on how to learn and be self-motivated and self-directed learners.

Apart from helping develop their cognitive faculties, it shapes their physical and mental well being, and provides them the environment and the methodologies for overall development and well- being.

Our vision and mission and everything that we do at THE SAMARTH SCHOOL are guided by these educational and developmental precepts and practices. And to achieve this, we believe that, a happy learning experience is a necessary prelude, an enabling prerequisite.

We inspire and empower our children with experiential learning, promising practices, a creative and innovative spirit, and collaborative culture. Our educational programs, co-curricular activities, community service engagements, international exchange programs, and multifarious events have always been designed to foster children's all-round development and shape them into responsible citizens with a global outlook and cross-cultural appreciation.

Our vision and our transition to the new campus signify this new thinking. Together, let us prepare our children to meaningfully engage in a changing world, by providing them with a world class educational experience that fosters excellence and is inclusive; that is broad and deep; that is holistic and futuristic.

With best wishes,
